Cyclomedia's Alex Hepp Receives URISA Service Award

During the Awards Luncheon at the GIS-Pro 2023 conference in Columbus, Ohio, the Urban and Regional Information Systems Association (URISA) recognized a number of leaders for their volunteer service. Cyclomedia is proud to share that Alex Hepp, Director of Assessment, was the 2023 recipient of the "Service Award". This award is presented to members who have demonstrated faithful service to URISA and participation in its program over a period of several years.

“The commitment and dedication that the URISA staff bring to the organization embolden the members to get involved and volunteer. Being part of this fantastic organization has been so rewarding and provided me with guidance, experience, and friendships that will last for years to come!

— Alex Hepp,
Director of Assessment

This award, which is for specific service to URISA, requires a significant number of years of service in a number of programs or committees, and a willingness to take on challenges without regard to the potential for recognition. Alex has been a member of the GIS-Pro Content Committee since 2007, and was a Conference Co-Chair in 2018. In addition to the GIS-Pro Content Committee, he has served on the Industry Relations Committee and still serves on the Marketing and GIS/ValTech Committees.

The URISA organization is a nonprofit association that provides essential resources for GIS professionals throughout their careers, such as education and training, a connected community, & advocacy for geospatial challenges and issues. As a company that provides GIS-driven solutions for Local Governments, DOTs, Telecommunications companies, and more, Cyclomedia has been a proud corporate sponsor of URISA since 2013).

Congratulations Alex—great work!
